Woman's Suffrage Injected Into National Council Gathering.

DEBATE IS SHUT OFF

Plea Made for Wider Affiliations of Women's Organizations of Country.

The National Council of Women was The National Council of Women was thrown into an uproar yesterday by a heated discussion between the delegates as to the relative merits of woman's suffrage. The argument occurred at the round table luncheon given at the Hotel Raleigh and finally attained such heated volume that Mrs. Ellis Logan, of Washington, presiding in the absence of Mrs. Kate Waller Barrett, was forced to rap for order.

Kate Waller Barrett, was forced to rap for order.

The discussion was precipitated by Mrs. George Alonzo Miller, of Long Beach, Gal. Mrs. Miller, speaking as a woman voter, told the delegates of what the ballot had done for the women of California and spoke of the laws beneficial to women that have been enacted since their enfranchisement.

Mrs. Arthur M. Dodge, of New York, immediately objected to the claims of Mrs. Miller, and declared that the statutes of many States without suffrage contained laws equally as beneficial to
